Rt. Hon. Pakalitha Bethuel Mosisili

Prime Minister of the Kingdom of Lesotho

A charismatic leader, patriotic & visionary

In life, trials and tribulations surface to hone character so we may learn the values of compassion, humility, patience, dedication, perseverance and every other attribute that describes the perfect human being.

Rare is the one who faces sorrow, fear, danger, anger and disappointment without losing sight of his goal in life and still retain the noble qualities of humility and compassion.

Such a one is Pakalitha Bethuel Mosisili who grew up in a land locked far away in the high mountains of Southern Africa, called Lesotho, Kingdom of the Sky, among a people, proud of their centuries-old culture and resilient in the way they faced life.

He has wanted nothing more than to be able to help his people, build for them a future where every Mosotho has the means to live life to the fullest, and where every Mosotho can live in a safe, secure and crime-free society.

He feels very strongly that given the means his people will rise above their differences to build a nation that will be strong and tough to face the challenges of the future.

In May 1998, after a long, hard and dangerous political journey, he took oath as the fourth democratically-elected Prime Minister of the Kingdom of Lesotho, and, in the 12 years that he has governed, he has brought sweeping changes.

From the oldest citizen to the unborn Mosotho, he has introduced policies to reduce poverty, build peace and stability, provide better healthcare and improve education.

Rooted in the overarching objective of poverty reduction, he seeks to improve the nation's human resource base, employment, income generation leading to wealth creation and food security among a host of other challenges faced by the nation of close to two million people.

Humble in demeanour, fearless in leadership

A humble soul he has never allowed the pains that he has suffered in his personal life to swerve his mind from the duties of nation building.

Fearless in the way he carries out his tasks the Right Honourable Pakalitha Mosisili is a man determined to transform his people and he has used his position with both wisdom and foresight to do all that is necessary to make his dream and those of his people, come true.

The basis for all his actions is the simple fact that he loves his people and wants to do good by them and with his vision fixed on the future he has set in motion plans that he hopes will achieve all that he desires for Lesotho's next generation.

For all these and more the Limkokwing University of Creative Technology takes great pride in bestowing upon the Right Honourable Prime Minister of Lesotho, Pakalitha Bethuel Mosisili this Honorary Doctorate of Leadership.

Empowering the global net generation

Education is evolving worldwide to match a growing demand for a new kind of human capital. Digital skills, an entrepreneurial mindset and a global outlook are some of the attributes that are increasingly being sought by not just industry, but governments and non-government organizations. The Limkokwing University of Creative Technology is creating unique pathways that offer different ways for young people from around the world to build a future where they can fit into the fast moving global economy. Essentially it is about talent building and character development together with acquisition of digital skills and new knowledge that are needed to empower the world's next generation.
